-PRESS RELEASE-

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

American Society of Civil Engineers has Elected Mac McWilliams, P.E., Managing Principal of Bury+Partners-DFW, into the Grade of Fellow

Dallas, Texas – March 13, 2006 - The American Society of Civil Engineers has elected Mac McWilliams, P.E. into the grade of Fellow. Less than 6% of the Society's membership has attained the Fellow grade. The following is paraphrased from the Society's Bylaws: An ASCE Fellow is a person who shall have demonstrated a broad responsibility for engineering work of major importance. The duties and responsibilities of a Fellow must be clearly above that required for the Member grade. Fellows have attained leadership roles within the fields of civil engineering practice, research or academia.

Mr. McWilliams received his Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Texas at Arlington and has been an active member in ASCE Dallas Branch since 1981. He has served on numerous committees, held various board positions, acted as President from 1999-2000, and is currently serving as the University of Texas at Arlington contact representative.

Bury is a dynamic, diversified engineering and consulting firm with offices in Austin, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Temple, Texas, and Fairfax, Williamsburg and Warrenton, Virginia. Founded in 1984, the company has more than 300 employees. It has been named one of the state's "Top Design Firms" by Texas Construction, has steadily advanced in the national rankings of Engineering News Record and is recognized by CE News as one of the Top 50 Places to Work nationally.
